

GROUP THREE DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

GROUP THREE: URBAN PLANNERS AND THEIR PARTNERS

THEME: SPATIAL PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT

JPMORGAN CHASE & CO., NEW YORK

JANUARY 21ST, 2016 9:00 AM-12:30 PM

1. If you are familiar with the Detroit Future City Plan, how does it differ from other plans? How does it guide action? What was the level/intensity of resident engagement? What hurdles lie ahead?
2. How does Detroit seek to bridge downtown revitalization with neighborhood development? How is local planning linked to metropolitan or regional planning in Detroit and in other cities?
3. What new organizational structures and partnership configurations were created to support the Detroit Future City Plan and its related strategies, like addressing the vacant land inventory? How do they compare to those in other cities?
4. There is often a concern that development will lead to gentrification. How might this be mitigated in Detroit? How is it being approached in other cities?
5. What planning strategies from Detroit might be applicable for other American cities? Conversely, what planning processes from elsewhere might inform Detroit's?

GROUP THREE PARTICIPANTS

GROUP THREE: URBAN PLANNERS AND THEIR PARTNERS
THEME: SPATIAL PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT
JPMORGAN CHASE & CO., NEW YORK
JANUARY 21ST, 2016 9:00 AM-12:30 PM

MONIQUE BAPTISTE-GOOD	Project Director Strong Healthy Communities Initiative
PAUL C. BROPHY	Principal Brophy & Reilly, LLC
ANIKA GOSS-FOSTER	Executive Director Detroit Future City
SUSAN LLOYD	Executive Director Zilber Family Foundation
ROLF PENDALL	Director, Metropolitan Housing and Communities Policy Center The Urban Institute
ELIZABETH REYNOSO	Assistant Director of Public Sector Innovation Living Cities
ERIC ROBERTSON	President Community LIFT
TAMAR SHAPIRO	President & CEO Center for Community Progress
JULIA TAYLOR	President Greater Milwaukee Committee
DALILA WILSON-SCOTT	President, JPMorgan Chase Foundation Managing Director, Global Philanthropy JPMorgan Chase & Co.
RIP RAPSON	President and CEO The Kresge Foundation
JAMES M. FERRIS, PHD	Director The USC Center on Philanthropy and Public Policy
ELWOOD HOPKINS	Managing Director Emerging Markets, Inc.